

Dear colleagues,

Greetings from Fudan University!

We would like to warmly invite your university to join us in the core working network of YICGG (Youth Innovation Competition on Global Governance, hereinafter YICGG). YICGG is an annual international student event started in 2007, sponsored by United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in China, and organized by School of International Relations and Public Affairs (SIRPA) of Fudan University.

YICGG is an international youth competition to promote public welfare, with the aim to facilitate global reform and global governance. Possessing a high academic standard, YICGG has been crowned “the Academic Olympics for the Youth” among similar youth events. In the past ten years, more than 1000 participants constituting 263 teams from 127 universities and institutions, representing 77 countries and regions in total have taken part in, and submitted over 373 proposals to this programme. In 2018, we will be projecting a core working network of YICGG to provide a more interactive and bonding program system. To be forming the first collaboration as such, we anticipate providing the best opportunity for the world's youth to encounter, to discuss issues of common interests, and to understand each other. And we are more than glad to submit the outstanding creative policy proposals, outcome of YICGG, to UNDP.

Schools joining the YICGG core working network will take the initiative in:

- 1) Sending participants to YICGG ;*
- 2) Hosting YICGG events alternately;*
- 3) Proposing issues to be discussed during YICGG.*

Beyond that, we are more than willing to discuss details of our cooperation mechanism with you, and issue an official memorandum to concrete the outcomes of our discussions.

We are honored to invite your university to join us in the core working network of YICGG, as well as to encourage your students to build their teams and participate in YICGG 2018. Airfare subsidies and local accommodation during the summit will be provided to those eligible to the finals.
